ADOTTA
DENTRO L’ARCHITETTURA
Metafora offers 10 mm, 12 mm or 16 mm thicknesses of tempered and laminated glass panels.

The system provides excellent acoustic properties and is certified to resist impact.

The height of the structural profiles (25 mm), in proportion to their width (100 mm), enhances the sleek and minimal aesthetic.

The extremely slim profile contributes to a unique architectural design.
Thin patented profiles are utilized between glass panels, creating 2-, 3-, or 4-way connections at various angles. Structural posts may also be incorporated depending on aesthetic and construction requirements of the Architect’s design.

Connections between glass panels can also be made without aluminum profiles by using a very strong high-bonding adhesive.

Service modules may be placed next to doors or between panels to allow the installation of electronics into the partition system. With a width of 150 mm, they accommodate devices such as card readers, controls, switches and schedulers. When properly adjusted, the aluminium closure panel can also be used as an element of an aeration grid.

Adotta offers commercial production elements suitable for both American and European markets. The flexibility of Metafora allows adaptation and use of specific models, types and technologies required by the Client or the Architect. It is highly customizable.

Over the years, Adotta has developed and improved its patented set of hinges and door stops for swinging doors. The products are tested and certified for strength as well as open/close cycles.
